You can click each tab to access the main page for that service. You can also mouse over each menu label to display a list of more specific services; click one of the listings to access the page for that specific service. There are no mouseover listings from the Home menu.

You can sort this list by date, by type of service (e.g. airline tickets, restaurant reservations, etc.), or by delegate, if you have one. A delegate is anyone else in your organization who can book travel and other services on your behalf, or on whose behalf you can book services. You will always see your own bookings first, then delegate bookings.

Profiles Overview

14. Why is my Profile information important?

AXIOM automatically fills in many fields when you're booking a service, from address information to credit card and passport information to preferred airplane seating and rental car size. This significantly reduces the time it can take you to arrange for these services, because you don't have to enter them each time you order a service. For instance, each time you book an airplane flight or a hotel room, or arrange to ship a package, the billing information that appears in your Profile will automatically populate the relevant fields when you order that service, so you can spend less time making travel or dinner or conferencing arrangements and more time on your job.

15. What type of information goes into my Profile?

The information captured in AXIOM Profile is grouped into the following categories:

- Personal and employee information (name, date of birth, job title, department, etc.)
- Addresses and phone numbers (business and home)
- Emergency contact information
- Credit card information
- Password information (including the option to change your password)
- Address book entries (including the ability to modify and import and export entries)
- Travel preferences (including airport, airline, hotel, and rental car preferences)
- Shipping preferences (including addresses and shipping providers and methods)
- Notifications, including modes of communication (email, phone, etc.) for travel itinerary reminders and updates.
- Delegates (who can book a service on your behalf, and people on whose behalf you can book a service)
- Display settings (including date and clock formats, units of measure, and currency)

Setting / Changing your Profile and Display Setting

Service Preferences

17. What are Service Preferences?

Service preferences refer to any of a number of choices for the travel and shipping services that AXIOM will treat as default information and will make searching for and booking services easier. Examples of service preferences include airline meal preference (travel) or sender address (shipping). Creating these preferences in advance can ensure a satisfactory travel or package shipping experience, and also save you time when you're actually booking the service. The travel preferences section in particular may take 10 or 15 minutes to complete, but you'll find that, over time, this will save you much more time.

18. How do I set up or modify my travel preferences?

From the Profile page, in the Preferences section, click Travel preferences.

The Travel Preferences page displays.

There are six sections to complete:

- Flight
- Hotel

- Travel Documents (includes passport, visa, and national ID card information)

When you're finished entering your information, click Save to return to the main Profiles page.

Note: You can partially fill out your travel preferences, then save them and return to this page later to complete the rest of the information.

Delegates

22. What is a delegate?

A delegate is an individual who is authorized to book services on behalf of someone else. You can have your own delegates (that is, one or more individuals who can book services on your behalf), and you can act as a delegate for more than one person (that is, you can book services on their behalf).

23. Who assigns my delegate?

You can assign your own delegates at any time. You may or may not be able to assign yourself as someone else's delegate, depending on your company's configuration.

You can assign your delegates (or assign yourself as a delegate, if this capability is available) via the Delegates section of your Profile. Notifications that a service or event has been booked will be sent to the service consumer, as well as the person who booked the service. No one can assign a delegate to a third party. Only you can choose your own delegates or, if available, assign yourself as someone else's delegate. Also, for security purposes, AXIOM will issue an email Notification to you whenever someone assigns themselves as a delegate of yours.

24. Can I become a delegate for someone else?

Yes, if the option is available. You can assign yourself as someone else's delegate via the Delegates section of your Profile.

25. How do I assign or become a delegate?

From your Profile page, in the Personal Information section, click the Add button next to the Delegates section. Click Become a Delegate (to book services on behalf of someone else) or Add a Delegate (to assign someone else to book services on your behalf).

Enter the name of your desired delegate in the search box, and click Search.

Select the person(s) for whom you wish to assign or become a delegate.

26. How do I know who my delegates are, or for whom I am a delegate?

This information is displayed in the Personal Information section of the main Profile page, under the Delegates heading.

27. Can my delegate see all my personal information?

Credit card information is masked; your delegate will only be able to see enough data to be able to book services (i.e. the last four digits of your credit cards to be certain he or she is using the correct card). Nothing else is masked; delegates have full access to the Profile, so they can add in missing information that may be required to complete a booking as well as maintain this information on your behalf.

28. How do I know when my delegate has booked a service for me?

AXIOM will automatically notify you according to the preferences you've set up in your Profile (i.e. by email, phone, or text message) each time a delegate has booked a service on your behalf.

Display Settings

29. What are display settings?

Display settings control how some aspects of your system will present some of your choices. They also enable you to set default values for your time zone (important for book time-sensitive services), units of measure (metric vs. U.S./Imperial--important for package shipping) and currency (important for purchases).

30. Why are display settings important?

Many of your service bookings are time sensitive. For instance, if you schedule a conference for 2:00 pm, AXIOM needs to know in what time zone. Also, some reservations expire if not confirmed by a certain time, in which case any misalignment of hour settings is critical. There are similar issues with currency. So it's important you complete the Display Settings portion of your Profile.

31. How do I set up or modify these settings?

From the Profile page, look for the Display Settings box, on the lower-right side of the screen, and click Edit.

The Display Settings page displays. Enter your information, and click Save.

Booking a Flight

32. How do I book a flight?

There are two ways to book a flight:

1. From the home page, click the Travel "quick start" tab on the left side of the screen.
2. From the Flight section of the Trip Planner page, mouse over the Travel tab and select Flight. You can access the Travel tab from anywhere in AXIOM.

Booking a flight from the Travel "quick start" tab on the home page:

First, select your departure and arrival airports and the dates and times of your departure. Select the Search nearby airports check box if you wish also to search for flights into and out of another airport near the airport you selected.

Note If you're also booking a hotel room, select the Add a Hotel check box to display additional fields that enable you to identify an airport or address near which you would like the hotel to be located. Select the Match my dates with my travel dates above check box to instruct AXIOM to search for hotels with room availability within the travel timeframe specified in your flight booking request. Clear this check box to enter hotel check-in and checkout dates independent from your flight arrangements.

If you're simultaneously booking a rental car, select the Add a rental car check box to display additional fields that enable you to identify a preferred car type (such as size). Clear this check box to enter car type and pick-up and drop-off information independent from your flight arrangements. Select the Match my rental car search with my flight times and destination check box to instruct AXIOM to search for rental cars at the airport within the travel time frame specified in your flight booking request. Clear this check box to enter car type, airport, and pick-up and drop-off information independent from your flight arrangements.

Next, click Search to display the Select your departure flight page.

From this point forward, selecting a flight follows the same path as booking a flight from the Trip Planner page.

Booking a flight from the Trip Planner page

1. From anywhere in AXIOM application, mouse over the Travel tab and select Flight.
 - The Trip Planner page displays, with the Round Trip tab selected. If you wish to add a flight or hotel, select the respective check boxes.

Note If you wish to book travel for a multi-part trip, click the Multi-city Trip tab.

2. Select your airport and travel date information and, if you wish, select additional desired airport and flight information in the Flight operations section.
3. Click Search to display the Select your departure flight page
 - On this page you can view your flights by segment or by round trip. Your search results will automatically be sorted by company policy, but you can also manually sort your search results by price, shortest flight, and departure time.
4. Click Select next to your desired departure flight.
 - The Select Your Return Flight page displays. This page offers the same viewing and sorting options as the Select Your Departure Flight page.
5. Click Select next to the departure flight of your choice.
 - The Review Your Flights page displays.
6. From the Review Your Flights page you can click View seating for each flight to display the Seat Selection page. You can select your desired seat by clicking the seat on the seating chart that displays, then clicking the Request seats button to return to the Review your flights page.

Note: If you do not select a seat, or if the seat you selected is not available, then AXIOM will request the seat preference (window or aisle) you specified in the Travel Preferences section of your Profile. If you haven't selected a preference, AXIOM will first search for aisle seats located in the front of the plane and continue to check for seats at the back of the aircraft; if none of these are available, AXIOM will search for all window seats, also beginning in the front of the plane and moving towards the back of the aircraft.

From the Review Your Flights page you can also click Fare Rules to display a printable dialog box containing detailed information about your flight, including fare rules, advance ticketing requirements, blackout dates and other travel restrictions, penalties, discounts, and a range of other information.

7. Click Continue to display the Review your trip page.

This page displays your complete travel itinerary, including hotel and rental car information, if you've booked any. From this page you have four options:

 - Click Start over.
 - Click Change this trip to return to the Select Your Departure Flight page
 - Click Hold this trip to hold this booking for a finite period of time, depending on fare rules.
 - Click Continue to display the Purchase Trip page and continue with your flight purchase.
8. To continue moving forward and complete your booking, click Continue to display the Purchase Trip page.
9. Review the information on the Purchase Trip page, and add or modify the information as desired, such as basic traveler information, special rental car requests, Confirmations and Notifications, etc. For more information on arranging confirmations and notifications, please see the Profiles help page.
10. Click Purchase to purchase the reservation and display the printable Trip Confirmation page.

11. Click Done to return to AXIOM home page.

33. Can I book a flight with more than one destination?

Yes. When you click the multi-city tab, only three segments will be displayed initially. You can add or remove segments by clicking the Add another segment or Remove segment buttons located near the bottom of the search form. You can enter up to eight origin and destination pairs for a single trip.

Note: For multi-city trips, you cannot specify the connection city, but you can specify the preferred fare type for all or portions of the entire trip, depending on your company travel policy.

34. How are the flight search results prioritized on the Select Your Flight pages?

By default, the Select Your Flight pages prioritize your flight search results using the following five criteria:

- Price, with the lowest priced options displayed first
- Flights that are within the guidelines of your company's travel policy
- Flights with airlines that are preferred by your company
- Length of flight time
- Departure time

35. Why should I name my trip?

If you use AXIOM to book services with any regularity, it's good practice to name each trip, or each service instance. If every service instance has a unique name, it will be easier to locate that service on your home page, in the Upcoming Reservations section, to open that reservation so you can review or change details or cancel the service.

36. What is the "Match my rental car search with my flight times and destination" check box?

If you select this check box, AXIOM will automatically align the dates of your car rental reservations with your flight times.

If you select the Find flights from nearby airports check box, then AXIOM will automatically include any departure airports within a pre-designated radius of your selected departure airport, as defined by your company.

If you're uncertain about the airport code to enter, click the "Airport Code" link to look up the appropriate airport name.

Note: Your Company may have stipulated that AXIOM display lower-priced flight results from alternate airports in addition to or instead of flights from the airport you selected.

Holding Reservations

37. Can I hold a reservation? For how long?

AXIOM enables you to hold your travel reservation based on rules defined by your company and the airline, hotel, or rental car company you are using. You will need to complete the purchase of your trip by the time specified when you first place the trip on hold, or else your reservation will be cancelled automatically and you'll need to start over again.

Important: If by the auto-cancellation deadline you do not complete the purchase of a held trip that contains a flight, then AXIOM will cancel the entire trip automatically.

38. What other considerations are there when holding a trip?

Flight tickets will not be issued and you will not be charged for the price of your flight itinerary until the trip is purchased.

Flight prices are not guaranteed and a new price will be applied when the trip is purchased. This new price will be displayed on the trip purchase page. If you do not want to use this fare, you will have the option of creating a new trip.

If you are making a tentative booking for a hotel or rental car and do not cancel the trip within the guidelines specified by those vendors, then you will be responsible for any applicable cancellation fees.

39. How is the auto-cancellation deadline determined?

The auto-cancellation deadline for your tentative trip is determined by rules specified by your company and by the airline, hotel, or rental car company with whom you're trying to book the trip.

If you have a flight in your trip, then the deadline is determined by cancellation rules for the airline and by cancellation rules configured by your company, whichever is more restrictive. For example, if you have a restricted airfare, you won't be allowed to hold this trip for more than 24 hours, as that is a restriction from the airline. Your company may also have configured your site such that you must purchase a ticket at least six hours before departure time, or else your trip will be cancelled automatically.

If you do NOT have a flight in your trip (that is, if you have reserved only a hotel and/or rental car), then the trip will be not be auto-cancelled. You'll have the option of purchasing or canceling this trip right up until the time the trip starts. The trip start time is determined by the hotel check-in or rental car pick-up date. If you fail to cancel this trip, you are responsible for any applicable cancellation fees from the hotel or rental car agency.

Travel Preferences and Policies

40. What are travel preferences?

If you select the preference option, then individual flight search results will be displayed by how well they match your preferences from the search form. Any frequent flier numbers will be applied automatically on the flight purchase page.

41. Do I need to create any travel preferences?

It's not required that you complete the Travel preferences section of your Profile. However, as AXIOM auto-completes much of your trip request based on information you provide in your profile (such as home airport or frequent flier program), booking services through AXIOM will be more efficient if you complete your travel preferences.

42. What does the orange "P" icon mean?

The "P" icon indicates this particular vendor is a preferred vendor, which means your organization or agency has negotiated a special discount for using the product or service this vendor provides.

43. What does it mean if a flight option is "out of policy?"

Your organization may have established certain policies, such as encouraging employees to use travel service vendors with whom it has negotiated discounted rates, to help control expenses. Such vendors are considered preferred vendors. A flight option may be considered out of policy for any of several reasons, such as a higher-than-allotted rate or a non-preferred vendor. Such choices will be listed as "out of policy" in your search results. Depending upon additional company policies, you may still be able to book this service, but you may be prompted to provide a reason why you would choose this service over an "in-policy" option.

44. What if I have any unused airline tickets?

If the unused tickets function is enabled on your system, an "unused" graphic will display whenever you have an unused ticket available for use on a particular airline. You can apply the value of this unused ticket to your new trip. If you have more than one unused ticket on a particular airline, AXIOM will use the ticket that is either closest to its expiration date or closest to the dollar value of your new ticket, according to the rules of your company's travel policy.

47. Why should I name my trip?

If you use AXIOM to reserve services with any regularity, it's good practice to name each trip, or each service instance. In this case, AXIOM will display a note at the top of the page, indicating the car type you originally requested is not available.

AXIOM Airport Parking FAQ's

55. Why should we make off-airport parking available to our employees through AXIOM?

Your company can realize cost savings up to 50% versus on-airport parking while providing your employees the opportunity to eliminate the stress and hassle of finding parking at the airport. Guaranteed reservations ensure your travelers have a space even during busy peak travel periods. Travelers experience the extra convenience of door-to-door shuttle service, luggage assistance, valet and covered parking options and more.

56. Can Airport Parking policies be created and implemented in AXIOM?

Policies can be created and implemented based on the airport parking suppliers and cost of the reservation.

57. What is your source for Airport Parking locations and content?

We work with Park 'N Fly Network, an aggregator of off airport parking lots, which provides us access to content for Park 'N Fly facilities as well as other trusted off airport parking suppliers including FastTrack (formerly PCA), Park 'N Go, Avistar, Park Ride Fly, Preflight, Airport Fast Park, and many others.

58. What does it mean if I cannot find a city in the drop-down list?

Currently, the airport parking service is not available at all airports. We are working to support airport parking at additional U.S. and international airports. There are currently no off-airport parking facilities in existence at either of the Washington DC airports (IAD or DCA), Charlotte (CLT) or Boise (BOI). We are actively working to offer off airport facilities at all other major airports in the US.

59. How many airport parking facilities do you offer?

Currently we offer over 100 airport parking facilities at 57 airports in the US.

60. Why do I have to bring a printed copy of my reservation?

Your printed copy of your reservation is used in two ways. When you arrive at the facility it can be used to guarantee you a parking space. When you exit the facility, the cashier will attach it to your ticket as proof of payment. Your confirmation number is not proof of purchase. Without your proof of purchase you must pay the cashier the full amount when exiting the facility. Facility staff is unable to access your online booking and cannot verify your purchase without your printed reservation.

61. I lost my payment confirmation voucher, how do I get another copy?

To reprint a copy of your voucher, you can do one of the following:

1. Print the confirmation email voucher that you received
2. Log in to AXIOM to access your reservation details. At the Airport Parking Payment Voucher page, click Print Voucher

62. The parking attendant will not accept my parking voucher, what do I do?

The parking cashier is looking for the Confirmation Number and PNF Code found in the Airport Parking Payment Voucher. This information is located in the Request Summary section. Locate the Confirmation Number and PNF Code on the voucher and show it to the parking cashier. They should be able to accept the voucher.

63. Do I need to contact the parking facility to confirm my booking?

No, you do not need to contact the parking facility because your booking is confirmed at the time of purchase.

64. When will I receive my Airport Parking confirmation?

At the end of the booking process, a confirmation screen will appear showing your booking details. You will also receive an email confirmation immediately after the booking is complete.

65. When is my credit card billed?

Airport parking reservations are pre paid through the system, so your credit card is charged in full at the time that you make your purchase.

66. Are the rates the same as what can be booked directly with the off-airport location?

The rates available through AXIOM are generally 5-20% lower than the rate you would be charged if you drove up to the facility without a reservation, and are identical to those rates offered through pnf.com. Additionally the $3 online booking fee is waived for AXIOM users.

67. What is the maximum number of days that parking can be reserved?

You can purchase up to 21 days at a time. If you need to book beyond 21 days, you may do one of the following:

- 1. Make multiple reservations to cover your stay
- 2. Pay for any additional days when you exit the facility

68. I forgot to bring my confirmation with me. When I exited the parking facility the cashier charged me. How do I get a refund for what I already paid?

You will need to contact the vendor directly.

69. I made a reservation but will not be parking as long as I had originally anticipated. Will I receive a refund for these unused days?

No, a refund will not be issued for the unused days. You may choose to modify your booking 12 hours prior to the drop-off date and time without a change fee.

70. I made a reservation and I have to extend my trip. My reservation does not reflect those additional days. How do I pay for the additional days?

When you exit the parking facility, the cashier will charge you for any additional hours or days that you did not pay at the time of booking.

AXIOM Car Service FAQ's

71. Why should we make car service available to our employees through AXIOM?

AXIOM Package Shipping FAQ's

110. What shipping services are available through AXIOM?

Rearden Commerce has partnered with leading shipping carriers, namely FedEx, DHL, UPS and USPS (United States Postal Service), to provide a variety of shipment services for packages originating from the US and UK to most global locations. AXIOM lets organizations take advantage of their existing carrier negotiated rates and communicate shipping policies to employees as they ship packages. Employees can create shipping labels from their own desktop while ensuring significant cost savings through on demand rate comparisons.

111. Are the shipping services offered through AXIOM the same as what's available on shipping Web sites?

The shipping services available through AXIOM are the same as those provided by individual carriers. With AXIOM, employees are able to view a comparative rate matrix and choose the best possible rates matching their shipping requirements. Other web sites (including direct carrier sites) do not provide consolidated views of multiple shipping carriers and rates. Shipping with AXIOM is convenient and fast once employees set their shipping preferences and import their address books.

112. How do the rates compare to other shipping websites?

With AXIOM users can take advantage of their company's negotiated rates or carrier-provided standard rates, all at the same time. Shipping is available as part of the total Rearden Commerce platform experience, so customers do not have to pay extra to access shipping services. Other shipping web sites typically require a subscription or usage fee to use their label generation services.

113. How can I use contacts from my own address book in the system?

The system allows you to import contacts into your local address book. The information is then stored in our system so you can access your contact information easily.

To import contacts into the system, perform the following steps:

Note: Before you can import a list of contacts, you must download the template to create the file. You can download the template from the Import Contacts page.

Log in to AXIOM.

Under Address Book on the left, click Import Contacts. The Import/Export Contacts page appears. You will need to download the file format that you must use when importing contacts.

Click Download CSV format to download the template to your desktop. Follow the steps listed in the template and save the file. Once you have created the .csv file, you can import the file.

At the Import Contacts page, click Browse to locate the file on your desktop.

If you want the system to validate the address, then select the Validate Mailing Addresses During Import check box.

Select how you want the system to handle duplicate contacts.

Click Import, and then click Save.

114. What if I do not have the recipient's name?

You can enter the department name instead. For the most accurate delivery, you should use the recipient's name.

115. What if I do not have the recipient's phone number?

The carrier systems require that we provide them with a valid phone number to contact in case there is a problem with the shipment. If you do not have a valid recipient phone number, then you should enter your own phone number as a point of contact. If there is a problem with the shipment, a carrier representative may contact you to ask for instructions.

116. What if I do not know how much my package weighs?

If your shipment is an envelope, you do not need to enter a weight. If you are using flat rate packaging from carriers, the system will automatically enter a weight of 1 pound (or request a flat rate based on the carrier's rules.)

For other package types, a best guess is allowed. If you enter too low or too high of a weight, the carrier will correct it for you. The carrier will charge the appropriate amount based on the actual weight. If there is too much of a difference between the weight you entered and the actual weight (e.g., 1 pound instead of 20 pounds), the carrier may return the package to you.

117. How do I make sure the entire address display's on the shipping label?

Carriers allow a set number of characters for each address line. The maximum limit for Street Address, Apartment/Suite, Mailstop, First Name, Last Name and Company Name is 35 characters. The City field limit is 30 characters.

118. If I print a label page but never ship the package, is there a charge?

FedEx and UPS will charge you unless you cancel the order.

119. What is the cutoff time for creating a shipping label?

If you would like to create a shipping label with a ship date of today, then your cutoff time is 6:00 p.m. based on the local time zone in your account settings. You can create a shipping label after 6:00 p.m.; but the system will display a ship date of the next business day.

120. Do I need to schedule a pickup?

If you are working from an office location that has regular pickup service with a carrier, then no, you do not typically need to schedule a pickup. If you are shipping from a home or remote office location that does not have regular pickup service, then yes, you should schedule a pickup.

121. What is the cutoff time for scheduling a pickup?

Within the United States, you must schedule a pickup prior to 4:00 p.m. based on the time zone associated with the pickup location's address. Outside of the United States, the pickup cutoff time is 4:00 p.m. based on the local time zone in your account settings. If you need to schedule a pickup after that time, you will need to contact the carrier directly.

122. What is the difference between Schedule a Pickup and Ship a Package?

Schedule a Pickup assumes you already have a label and just need to schedule the pickup. Ship a Package allows you to schedule the pickup, set notifications, choose delivery option and rates, and print a label.

123. Why is the tracking number required when using the Schedule a Pickup option?

Some carriers require that you enter a tracking number to be sure they pick up the correct package. Again, this option is only used if you already have a label printed.

124. How do I insure a package?

At the Ship a Package page, enter a numeric value in the Declared Insurance Value field. For example, if the package you are sending has an approximate value of $100, then enter "100" in the Declared Insurance Value field. (Note that the shipping cost will increase based on the insurance value you enter.)

Note: If you do not see this option on your site, it may be because your company has elected to self insure packages or there is another arrangement with the shipping carriers to provide insurance.

125. How do I complete a commercial invoice?

You must complete a commercial invoice if you are sending non-documents internationally. To complete a commercial invoice, perform the following steps:

At the Package Shipping home page, click Ship a Package. The Ship a Package page appears.

Complete the required fields.

At the Package Information section, make sure the Package Type is not a Provider Envelope.

Note: You cannot create a commercial invoice if your package is a provider envelope. A provider envelope should be used for shipping letters or documents.

At the Shipment Contains field, select Products / Commodities.

At the Printable Documents field, select Create Invoice check box.

Complete remaining fields, and then click Next. The Shipment Rates page appears.

Select a rate, and then click Next. The Invoice page appears.

Create the commercial invoice by completing the required fields on the Invoice page.

Click View Invoice to view and print the commercial invoice.

126. What countries can I ship to and ship from?

Destinations that you can ship to and ship from are based on the configuration your company has set up in the system. If your company does not allow you to ship to a specific country, you will not be able to select the country during your initial ship a package request.

127. How do I ship a package internationally?

To ship a package internationally, keep the following guidelines in mind:

Make sure you know what you are sending: documents or items that are dutiable.

Determine the value of the item(s) for dutiable packages.

Create customs documents (e.g., invoice) through AXIOM. If you have customs documents available, you can create an international shipping label along with the invoice. If you are unsure, check with your shipping department. Most dutiable shipments only require an invoice.

Note: Currently, AXIOM does not allow you to ship an item with a value that is more than $2,500.

128. How do I track my package?

There are a couple of ways that you can check the status or whereabouts of your package:

At the main Shipping home page, click Track a Package. At the Track Shipments page, select the provider from the list. Enter the tracking number(s), and then click Submit.

At the status table on the main Shipping home page, locate your request and then click the link. The Package Shipping Details page appears. Under the Tracking Information section, the tracking information is listed.

129. Why is the delivery information missing or incomplete?

This happens when a carrier has not updated their tracking database. This usually occurs for a variety of reasons - e.g., the driver may not have scanned the package when it was delivered or the package was routed incorrectly. Once the information is available in the carrier database, it will be immediately visible on AXIOM.

AXIOM Event Ticket FAQ's

130. What kinds of events are available for purchase through AXIOM?

Through our supplier, Global Sports Access (GSA), AXIOM offers access to millions of professional and college sporting events, concerts, and theatrical performances throughout the US and Canada. GSA is one of the most trusted brands for premium event seating and tickets. GSA provides safe, easy, and convenient ways to purchase tickets. GSA offers customers access to the largest worldwide online database of secondary market tickets (nearly six times more than eBay) for professional and college sporting events, concerts, awards shows, theatrical performances, and stage acts available today.

131. Are the tickets offered through AXIOM the same as those on other ticket/event Web sites?

The tickets available through AXIOM are secondary market tickets. This means that they are available through the resale market and not through a primary source such as Ticketmaster or directly from the venue. Therefore, you can often buy tickets through AXIOM that are sold out through primary market channels. In many cases, tickets available through AXIOM are the same or comparable to tickets available through retail secondary market sites such as Stub Hub or RazorGator.

132. How do the prices compare to other ticket websites?

Because the tickets are in the secondary market, the prices are determined by market supply and demand. For sold-out events, ticket prices are often higher than the original face value. The prices available through AXIOM are comparable to prices on other secondary market websites.

133. How do I search for and buy tickets?

To begin searching for tickets, click the Entertainment tab to display the Event Tickets page.

You can search for tickets in several ways:

By category (sporting event, concert, or theater event)

By specific location or keyword

By specific date or date range

Note You must complete the date field and also provide either a keyword or a location.

When you've entered your search parameters, click Search. Your search results will appear in the Select an Event page. Click the event you want, and a list of available tickets will display in the Event Details page.

You can also browse for tickets by type. In the Browse by Category section, simply click the item of your choice. You can browse by sport (baseball, football, basketball, hockey), and you can browse either concerts or theater events alphabetically. When you make your browse selection, you'll display the Select an Event page. On this page click the sports team (or concert or theater event) you want, and a list of available tickets will display in the Event Details page.

When the Event Details page displays, make your ticket selection. Use the drop-down menu to specify the number of tickets you want, and click Select to display the Review Event page. Click Back if you wish to change your selection, or click Continue to display the Select Billing and Shipping Options page. Complete the billing and shipping information, and click Continue to display the Purchase Tickets page. Review this information page, and if everything is accurate, click Purchase. When the Confirmation page displays, your purchase is complete. Click Done to return to the Rearden Personal Assistant home page. You will then receive a Confirmation email with the details of your purchase.

134. How do I know that tickets, packages, and experiences listed on are real and available?

With literally millions of tickets available in GSA's system, misprints, duplicate listings, or a myriad of other scenarios may occur that could affect the offerings listed on the site. GSA goes to great lengths to minimize these issues (currently less than 2%). For example, as part of the world's largest online network, there is a stringent series of screenings that take place before anyone is able to become part of the network or offer tickets on the system. Rest assured that once your order is confirmed and accepted by GSA, it is their guarantee to you that they are responsible for the delivery.

135. How are Ticket prices set and why do they change?

Prices for items listed are set and managed by the ticket "owner." The actual price (which may be above or below the face-value price) for each item will rise and fall based on the market and driven by supply and demand.

136. Are there any service charges on ticket purchases?

Yes. A modest service fee is charged for each transaction, similar to the fees charged by other companies in the ticket business. Even with this service fee, the net price users will pay is either at parity or even slightly lower than what users will find shopping at other sites.

137. How are tickets shipped?

All tickets are shipped via a positive-signature courier service (all deliveries require a signature). GSA does not allow any re-routes. The courier must deliver your package to the address listed on the bill of lading. They cannot deliver it to any other address. If you have specific delivery requirements, you should make those arrangements during the order process. Tickets are always sent to your credit card billing address unless other arrangements are requested during the order process.

The billing address will be verified with your credit card company so you must use the exact address where your statements are sent. The tickets will be delivered using the best method. If possible GSA will inform you of the courier and when to expect delivery when your order is confirmed.

138. What shipping charges will I pay?

The delivery times are from the date GSA ships the order. Some tickets may require 1-2 days for processing. All delivery times are subject to availability in your delivery area. Any other special delivery requirements can be quoted as requested. Specific shipping charges will be quoted during the purchase process.

139. Is it possible to have the tickets shipped to an alternate address?

To ship your order to an alternate address, you must fax authorization documents to GSA. In your fax to GSA, you must include the following:

- A legible copy of your driver's license
- The credit card used for the purchase.

Submitting this information is to protect both you and GSA against fraudulent credit card use.

140. How can I track my order?

AXIOM will initially inform you as to when you can expect your package during the confirmation process of your order. The confirmation will typically be followed by a second email from GSA with the courier information and package tracking ID number.
